I am reading a book called Confronting the Presidents by the news commentator Bill O'Reilly. It is a fascinating read. Each chapter covers one president, offering a summary of his years in office. The twist of the book is that it tells the part of the story that has often been forgotten by history. What I'm learning is that there doesn't seem to be a period of time in which our country wasn't polarized. Mostly the tension was around slavery and the May issues connected to it. Also there was infighting about expansion and foreign relations. I haven't come to the part of the book where it talks about period of political tranquility. I say that somewhat sarcastically as I don't think there was one.

All this to say the founding leaders of the country were trying an experiment. Two hundred and fifty years is a nice slice of history but not quite enough time to determine if the experiment works. Parts of it certainly do. But other parts have failed. That's why it's an experiment.

With instant media feeds politics has become entertainment. This was not the case in the past. Every thought of the president, or misdeed of a senator is known instantaneously. We are certainly more informed than generations past but, as a consequence, more anxious and depressed. Perhaps it's because the access to news as it happens leaves us feeling that we have less control.

Nevertheless, the 250th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence is significant and worthy of celebration. When you consider the number of people who died in defense of our country, it is more apparent how fragile is this experiment in being a nation.

On Saturday, July 4, there will be a Mass of Thanksgiving for our country at 8:00am at St Clare Church. I encourage you to participate. Though not a holy day, it is special day that stands alone in history. It seems appropriate that part of our celebration includes rendering thanks to God for all we have received from the generations before us.

From Deacon Joe MacDonald

Do you remember where you were the day the astronauts first landed on the moon? Oh wait! Some of you may not have even been a twinkle in your parent's eyes yet, or your grandparents for that matter. Well, I know where I was.

It was July 20, 1969. I was fourteen years old and it was the first time I ever played the organ at Mass. Let me do the math for you. It was Fifty-seven years ago. I have been an organist for more than half a century. In that time, I estimate that I have played approximately eight thousand, eight hundred, ninety-two funerals. This number doesn't include the funerals that I have presided over since I was ordained twenty-two years ago. I've been to all kinds of funerals, those of young children and centenarians and every age in between. I've played at or was the deacon for funerals for a young military man and for police officers and firefighters who died in the line of duty. I've pretty much seen it all.

And this has been a blessing for me. It has given me the opportunity to reflect on the great mystery of death. This is what I have learned about myself. First, I am not afraid to die. Second, I am petrified by how I might die. For example, I'd rather not be eaten alive by anything with big teeth.

Why am I bringing this up? I was praying the sorrowful mysteries of the Rosary yesterday and that first mystery, "The Agony in the Garden," got me meditating on that ordeal of Jesus. Like me, I thought, Jesus was not afraid to die. After all he clearly told Martha (after she came to chew him out for not being there to save Lazarus):

Jesus said to her, "Your brother will rise." Martha said to him, "I know he will rise, in the resurrection on the last day." Jesus told her, "I am the resurrection and the life; whoever believes in me, even if he dies, will live, and everyone who lives and believes in me will never die." (John 11: 23-26)

So, Jesus wasn't afraid of death, he had encountered and conquered it many times. But the way he would suffer death any human being would be repulsed by it and the body would react physically to that fear "He was in such agony, and he prayed so fervently that his sweat became like drops of blood falling on the ground." (Luke 22:44)

I think there was something else that caused him agony that night. I've often reflected on my own death but not about what it would mean for me, but for what it would mean for my family and those who love me. I never get weepy about my own dying, but when I think about their sadness, about telling them that I might have some terminal illness...that is what makes me sad. It's an agony I would rather not have to endure but we all do. Jesus did.

I can only imagine how he grieved for the suffering his mother Mary would endure at the foot of the Cross and how his disciples and relatives would also suffer. I think, knowing his great love, that this might have been more troubling for Jesus than the physical torture he was about to endure.

I came to the fifth sorrowful mystery – the Crucifixion. The Blessed Mother, John, and the other women standing nearby watching it all mercilessly unfold. Mary is often depicted as being silently stoic. I'm sorry I don't believe she was silent. She was also in agony, like the pangs of childbirth, she must have cried out. Not only was her only son being so brutally killed but she also knows who he was – the Son of God was abandoned by so many and ridiculed in his darkest hour. This was Mary's worst nightmare. She knows what is to lose a child.

I began to think also of those poor condemned souls who are being executed around the world today and of those mothers and fathers who can do nothing but watch and wait. Let us also remember those who die tragically violent deaths at the hands of someone else and for no good reason. Those parents suffer too. And keep in mind those parents who lose a child because of disease. It doesn't seem natural for a child to die before a parent. I think we can all imagine what their pain must be like.

This column seems too dark. So, let's cheer up a little. As Saint Peter said, "we may for while have to endure many hardships" but his is only for while – not forever.

Jesus used this metaphor to describe not just his death and the pain it would cause his mother and friends but the joy of the Resurrection.

Amen, amen, I say to you, you will weep and mourn, while the world rejoices; you will grieve, but your grief will become joy. When a woman is in labor, she is in anguish because her hour has arrived; but when she has given birth to a child, she no longer remembers the pain because of her joy that a child has been born into the world. So you also are now in anguish. But I will see you again, and your hearts will rejoice, and no one will take your joy away from you. (John 16:20-22)

And from Revelation:

He will wipe every tear from their eyes, and there shall be no more death or mourning, wailing or pain, [for] the old order has passed away." (Revelation 21:4)

And finally:

Eye has not seen. Ear has not heard. Nor has it entered the human heart and mind, the good things that God has prepared for those who love him. (1 Corinthians 2:9)

The Lord is not going to abandon us to endless suffering or grief. But our suffering does not have to be in vain. We can unite our suffering with that of Christ for the benefit of souls. We, are after all the Body of Christ.

Finally, let us remember to pray for those parents who will lose a child today, especially by violence. Maybe this prayer to the Blessed Mother.

Prayer to Our Lady of Sorrows

Our Mother of sorrows, with strength from above you stood by the Cross,
sharing in the sufferings of Jesus,
and with tender care you bore him
in your arms, mourning and weeping.

We praise you for your faith,
which accepted the life God planned for you.

We praise you for your hope,
which trusted that God would do great things in you.

We praise you for your love in bearing with Jesus the sorrows of his passion.

Holy Mary, may we follow your example, and stand by all your children who need comfort and love.

Mother of God,

stand by us in our trials and care for us in our many needs.

Pray for us now and at the hour of our death.

Amen!

America first proclaimed its independence on the basis of self-evident moral truths. America will remain a beacon of freedom for the world as long as it stands by those moral truths which are the very heart of its historical experience. And so America: If you want peace, work for justice. If you want justice, defend life. If you want life, embrace the truth—the truth revealed by God." ~ Pope John Paul II, St. Louis, Missouri, January 1999

2026 graduates from Braintree High and Archie's came to the rectory backyard for a celebratory BBQ last week. Rich Lannon brought his grill skills to prepare the delicious food and then led everyone in a rousing cornhole tournament! It was a wonderful way to honor their hard work and achievements, share their plans for the fall, and just have FUN! Thank you to Father Bob and Father Kevin for hosting!!

To all of our high school graduates, as you step into this next chapter of life—whether heading to college, starting a career, or exploring new paths—remember that you do not walk alone. God goes before you to guide your steps, and He stands beside you to give you strength. Trust in His plan for your life, stay anchored in your faith, and know that your church community will always be a home where you are welcomed and loved.

and how we can all devote our families and homes to the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

Consecrating your home to the Sacred Heart of Jesus is a beautiful way to invite Christ to be the true King of your family. By placing a blessed image in a place of honor, families center their household on His mercy and peace. Prayer cards in the entrances of the churches have a beautiful image you can display as well as a prayer on the back for you use.

Registration for Religious Education Classes for the 2026-2027 year is open! Scan the QR code below to open the registration form. (A link to the form can also be found on the Collaborative website at <https://braintreecatholic.org/faith-formation/>). In order to make the process a little easier, you can check on "returning family" at the top to use information from last year's form so you only need to fill in information that has changed since last year (i.e. student grade, session day, emergency contact, etc.) Class schedules will be posted on the Faith Formation page of the website (see address above) in early August. Email klane@sfab.org for more information or any questions.

Have you signed up for VBS yet? There are still a few spots open! Email klane@sfab.org for more information!

This year as I'm sure you are aware Independence Day falls on Saturday. There will be NO Confessions at St. Francis of Assisi and NO 4:00 Mass at St. Clare on this day. HAPPY
Fourth of July
INDEPENDENCE DAY

PRAYER FOR INDEPENDENCE DAY

God, source of all freedom, this day is bright with the memory of those who declared that life and liberty are your gift to every human being. Help us to continue a good work begun long ago. Make our vision clear and our will strong: that only in human solidarity will we find liberty, and justice only in the honor that belongs to every life on earth. Turn our hearts toward the family of nations: to understand the ways of others, to offer friendship, and to find safety only in the common good of all. We ask this through Christ our Lord.

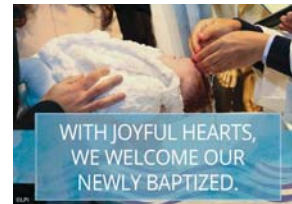

Amen.

June 28: Thirteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time:
In today's Gospel hear Jesus tell us: "Whoever gives only a cup of cold water to one of these little ones to drink because the little one is a disciple—Amen, I say to you, he will surely not lose his reward."

This month, through your gifts, the Society of St. Vincent de Paul was able to "acknowledge the goodness of the Father" by assisting families, providing food, and financial assistance for utility and rent bills.
